Re: Concerning Schmooze Communications

To Whom It May Concern:

CDS Computers works extensively with Schmooze Communications with mutual customers. We are an authorized reseller and have been selling and installing Schmooze Systems since they installed the first prototype of their business phone system in our office. Not only do we extensively utilize the PBXact system for our own high-volume office use, but we have numerous customers on the PBXact platform.

The technical and reseller management teams at Schmooze Communications are readily available and highly professional at supporting our end customers through us. When there are support issues that we cannot solve, their management quickly supports the issues through us or even directly to our end customers. Our customers really have two separate support channels – CDS Computers and Schmooze Communications technical and user support.

CDS Computers and our customers are extremely happy with the big business value of the Schmooze phone system, as well as the timely support of the systems that are deployed. We strongly recommend businesses shopping for value and strong local support to seriously consider purchasing a Schmooze phone system.

Sincerely,
